Sunday: Easter Day

News from Stockton

As we move through Holy Week to the final events of Jesus' crucifixion, and the empty tomb & resurrection on Easter Sunday, we thank God that Jesus always remains the true Light of the World, whatever our situation. He is there to support us during the worst and best of times. As one Godly Play story says: Jesus is not just back then, in this place or in that place. He is everywhere and in every time. Happy Easter!

..... and some more good news, the advert for a new minister for our group of Churches has gone into the Church Times. We welcome your prayers for this process. Thank you.

Rectory reflection from Rev Andy

At the latest Collective meeting we were thinking about the theme of life and death, and that is very appropriate for this Easter season as we celebrate the resurrection of Jesus, and the defeat of sin, evil and death. I wonder what you think about heaven, the fulfilment of Gods great plan to restore all of his creation? I am not talking about an ethereal existence, filled with angels and music and light, which many people seem to believe, some sort of alternative dimension where their loved ones can keep an eye on what is going on down here. No, scripture seems to make it clear that the life to come will be very much a physical existence, just without the things that have darkened and damaged Gods once perfect creation. Jesus resurrected body was clearly physical, he could eat, be touched, recognised, even if he gained some abilities that human beings don't possess yet. Paul writes that 'We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump'. That leads us to some fascinating reflections. What will our purpose be in this restored creation? Will the things we love in this life continue? What about the animals that can become as dear as family to us? There is still much mystery about what eternal life will be like, but we can be sure that it will, as I often say at funerals, make our present life seem like a pale shadow of that new and perfect existence. I hope that thrills you as much as it does me!

Prayer

Dear Lord, on this glorious Easter morning, we rejoice in the resurrection of your Son, Jesus Christ. Thank you for the hope and new life that Easter brings. May we live in the light of His victory over death.

A note from Gillian

When I retired last Easter, several of you said that God still has plans for me. Well, yes, he does! And yet again, he has taken me by surprise! Those who know me well, please don't laugh. I have been worshipping at Coventry Cathedral, initially for a bit of anonymity, but have fallen in love with it – the place, the music, the liturgy, the people – I have found it to be very spiritual and welcoming. And, now I have permission to officiate (PTO) from Bishop Ruth, I am joining the ministry team at the cathedral!

I have also let the local clergy know that, although I don't want to take on anything on a regular basis, I am happy to help out when I can across the deanery.

On Sunday 14th April I am being officially welcomed and introduced at the cathedral and will be acting as sub-deacon at the 10.30am Eucharist. Anyone who would like to come will be very welcome. (It will be very low key – unlike my previous appearances at the cathedral!)

God
Gillian
